Giulia Fly

The powerful voice of Giulia Fly already reveals in the first notes the depth of the emotions she conveys with her music. The singer from the Caucasus with Russian roots takes the listeners on a journey through a country full of secrets and strangeness. The tactful and modern beats are carried away by the English language into a mix of cultures and contrasts. Who listens to Giulia Fly, gets inevitably goosebumps and feels the different hearts of the cultures in her heart beat. Giulia sings about love, dreams, experiences and scars on her soul. The ethnic instruments in her music show how close the southeastern cultures are to her and their significance for her.

Giulia Fly was born 1985 in the southern part of Russia, in the Caucasus, which is one of the highest mountain regions in the world with up to 5,000 metres of altitude difference. The Caucasus and its women are known for their strength, freedom and beauty.

Their love and passion for music led Giulia Fly to Rostov-on-Don, a metropolis of millions in the European part of Russia. There, already at a very young age, she delights the audience with her charisma.

In 2009 Giulia moved to Switzerland and took lessons with the singer Jeffrey Byers and the soprano Leila Elmer, who made her aware of the subtleties of singing and the incredible power of her voice.

"I tell an emotional story in every song I sing. It is my own story and the story of the listener's" - says the singer, describing the fascination of her charisma and the mediating emotions.

Giulia Fly has also been conquering the Zurich cultural scene for a while now. Her listeners know her from the traditional club Adagio, where she gave solo concerts with various artists such as the pianist, composer and arranger Bela Balint.

Giulia Fly also tries new ways. She made her actress debut in Zurich in 2015. You could see her in Oleg Lips performance "Back in the USSR" on the cultural market stage.

The singer lives with her husband and two children in the Einsiedeln region, where she is already known to the public. She took part in various local cultural events and also performed solo concerts.

Giulia Fly is currently working on her own album, the first songs were produced with a well-known Swiss producer in the Swiss Power Place Studio. The latests songs are written and composed by Giulia herself, refining her own style and transporting her emotions and thoughts in a very personal way.
